

The Western Region Public Health Training Center

helps build and support a skilled workforce with free learning tools designed to meet your unique needs.

Successful Supervisory Skills

This learning pathway was developed after a 2019 survey of Arizona employees working in health organizations identified these areas as needing improvement for supervisors to work effectively.

➤ Setting Yourself Up for Success as a Supervisor

Designed to help prepare you to supervise others, this training includes tips for building positive relationships with your team, setting expectations, and reflecting on performance. Whether you're new to supervising others or need a refresher to boost motivation in the workplace, this training will give you an overview of important considerations.

<https://learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu/course/view.php?id=421>

➤ Relationships & Interpersonal Communication Skills in the Workplace

Effective communication is a cornerstone for successful relationships. Practice communication strategies to develop and maintain successful relationships in the workplace in this interactive course.

<https://learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu/course/view.php?id=310>

➤ Performance Management for Supervisors

Improve your performance management skills with this training developed to help supervisors learn strategies for developing employee skills, implementing employee evaluations and providing feedback.

<https://learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu/course/view.php?id=334>

➤ Leadership for Supervisors

Check out this course designed for supervisors to improve their techniques for managing work, problem solving, and critical thinking.

<https://learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu/course/view.php?id=335>

➤ Professional Development for Supervisors

Improve your ability to motivate, guide, and develop staff with this self-paced, online course.

<https://learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu/course/view.php?id=336>

Register at: learn.wrphtc.arizona.edu